services never performed, the argument was on a special ples, denurrer and motion to quash.

The principal points advanced by the defendants were that the millon was a sovercign and independent nation, and, therefore, the courts of the District had no jurisdiction to try a party for an allege 1 offices against the nation; that the disbursements and the receipts of the money, $23,500, complained of arose under the authority of an act of the Cherokee legislature, passed in '83, which directed Chief Bushybead, of the nation, to pay the same to the delegates to reimburse them for expenses incurred in connection with the business of the nation, on the terms of the legislature was a sufficient defense.

That the legislature was a sufficient defense, and the legislature was a sufficient defense was no allegation of the date of the allegod agreement, the parties to it, the subjectment of it, or the time when it was energed under an agreement, and there was no allegation was that the indictment was void for uncertainty.

Another contention was that the conspiracy indictment was bad on its face, because the thing charged was not an offense segainst the United States, and because there was no allegation that any misrepresentations were made, nor that any over act was committed.

The court stopped Gov. Wells in blaar gument, asping that he should be giad to know what the government could say before he required the defense to go further. Mr. Worthington having replied to the general allegations made by the defense, the court finally stopped him and held, in substance, "that all of the points taken by the general aircgardons maio by the derense, the court finally stopped him and held, in sub-stance, "that all of the points taken by the defense were sound; that to sustain these indictments would be to remand the Cherokee nation to the condition of wild Cherokee nation to the condition of wild Indians, unable to managetheir own affairs, while their independence had been recognized by every branch of the government; that the indictments were bad on their face, were indefinite and uncertain; that no overt act was alleged, but only intentions; that what the defendants were charged with doing was simply what they did in pursuance of instructions and by the authority of the Cherokee nation, and it seemed, also, that the nation was entirely content with the action of its seemed, also, that the nation was entirely content with the action of its seemed, also did not seek to go back of it, nor reverse it; that it was manifest that the criminal proceedings were instigated by the same

It; that it was manifest that the criminal proceedings were instigated by the same parties, and with the same purpose, which induced the commencement of the two civil smits brought to recover back the $29,500. It had been the uniform practice of this court to discourage and disallow any attempt to employ the jurisdiction of the criminal court where a party had a remedy for any alleged rights on the civil side of the court, and for this reason, also, the court would sustain both of the demurrers." District Attorney Worthington was uncertain whether it could be done or not, but, to test it, gave notice of an appeal was uncertain whether it could be done or not, but, to test it, gave notice of an appeal to the general term, and the difficulty before him now is to get the appeal to that court. This ends an interesting case that has now been pending for more then two years, first in two civil suits, in one investigation be-fore Congress, and in two investigations be-fore the circuit court of commissioners.

Climbing the Golden Stair.

People express their willingness to climb the golden stair, or heavenly pathway, very frequently, but, after all, they put off the first upward step as long as they can. There are two ways of beginning that fourney; one is by neglecting the health; the other by using improper medicines. When languid feelings and a general feeling of "don't care whether school keeps or not," show themselves, they are a sign that the nerves are out of order; then is your time, send for a bottle of Dr. Henley's Celery, Beef, and Iron, it will drive those blue deviis out of you and hrace you up for a renewed struggle for life and happiness. The contract for supplying the Treasury Department with 1,800 tons of soal was yesterday awarded to John Miller at $6.24 per ton. Mr. Miller a faw days ago received the nontract for supplying the same hind of coal to lise boroan of contraving and printing at $5.05 per ton. This discrepancy is causing considerable comment in the treasury. One of the bidders states that he had told Miller his bid was $5.95 per ton, wherethon Miller submitted another bid at $8.00, requesting permission to withdraw his first, which was subsequently learned to be $5.34. The department refused this and accepted his first bid of $5.24 per ton, holding $200 deposit as a quarantee of the faithliment of the contract.

NEW LIBRARY SITE The Jury Hears the Views of the Property Holders on Square 729.

The jury of appraisers for the new library ette, in the circuit court room yesterday had before them many of the property holders in square 729, and listened to the statements in regard to the value of the property owned by them in the square. Francis A. Wood, owner of the lot at the corner of A and Second streets, thought his ground and improvements worth $10,000. O. H. Reed owned a house and lot on A street, which he valued at $7,000. Samuel Bieber has two lots on A street; values the ground at $3 per foot and two houses at $1,600. Henry C. Tracey, representing owners of lote $0 and 10, thought the ground worth $1.50 and the eight houses $800 each. Hobsan estate and the National Life Insurance Company value the two lots on A street at $2 per foot. Z. Tobriner for his lot and improvements wants $10,000. C. Baum represented Mrs. Sarah Prince, who wanted $10,000 for her property on East Capitol street. L. D. Merchant, owner of next haif of lot on East Capitol street, would sell the ground for $2,500 per foot and the house for $100. Wm. Hoeke, owner of No. 113 East Capitol street, wanted $10,000 for it. For premises No. 117, the same amount was wanted. UNDISMAYED PROTECTIONISTS. Blacklisting Did Not Hurt Last Congress, and They Can Survive It This consideration of the Morrison tariff bill ast Thursday, and who will vote against it again to-day, do not seemed to be greatly dismayed at their blacklisting in the free again to-day, do not seemed to be greatly dismayed at their blacklisting in the free trade organs. Gay, of Louisiaus, who opposed the bill in order to save the sugar interests of his state, said: "Yes, there is a great deal of growling among the free traders in my district, but my course in this matter has the indorsement of the representative business men, so I am satisfied. I have opposed the Morrison bill because I regard it as a victous measure, whose result would be the destruction of our chief industry. I have followed my conscientious convictions, and any amount of blacklisting can not disturb my rest. If the Democrats would let the tariff sions and turn their attention to abeliabing our system of unnecessary internal revenue taxes, they would do more to strengthen themselves before the country than by pursuing their present course of attempting to put American products in competition with those produced by introducing pauper labor of foreign countries. Kentucky has control of the House, however, and while this is the case nothing can be expected in the way of abolishing internal revenue taxes."

St. Martin, Irion, and Wallace, of Louisiana, who also voted against consideration last Thursday, are equally undisturbed since they have received many letters com-mending their course from the representa-tive men and organizations in their dis-tive men and organizations in their districts.

The New York and New Jersey Democrats who approved tariff reduction only smile at the threats of the free trade organs.

"We have acted in the interests of our constituents and of all American laborers." said Mr. McAdoo, of New Jersey, Bandail's closest friend on the floor of the House, "and if the free traders choose to blacklist us—well, blacklisting did not hurt us last Congress, and I suppose we can survive it equally well this time."

All of the young men acquitted themselves with credit, and showed careful training under efficient tutors. It is only simple justice to say that the recitation by Ernest B. Smith, of Norfolk, Va., was very handsomely delivered, in a perfectly graceful and effective style, displaying no mean order of talent, which certainly eutitled him to receive, as he did, the first premium for elocution. Independent Candidate for Congress.

Enton National Rescale lement in the Demurged by the independent element in the Democratic party as their candidate for Congress in the seventh congressional district of Virginia I accept with thanks the candidacy. I will oppose the administration edvil service sham, being unconstitutional, and merican, and detrimental to good government as laid down by the fathers of Democracy, the framers and producers of the constitution of our government—"To the victors belongs the spoils." I am in favor of protecting American industries. I am opposed to fostering monopolies and in sympathy with the American laborer, and will exert every effort and employ every means to promote their interest. I will take the stump Aug, I and carnestly entreat and appeal to the good thinking people, irrespective of party feeling, to hear discussed these issues, which are of material interest to the prosperity of the commonwealth. I beseech of you as a Democrat to lay aside every vestige of prejudice and high party feeling and decide these great and lofty questions with impartial justice.

It is an affection of the nerve intensified by a cold. Repose, bringing with it a cessation of pain, is induced by Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which is a fine nerve tonic and tranquiliser. It is also a reliable means of checking rheumatism and gont. These maladies have always more or less to do with the kidneys, that, when inactive, fail to throw off the impurities which engender them. The Bitters can be relied upon to renew a healthy and purifying action of the renal organs. Besides this, it gives tone to the stomach, liver, and bowels, and earliches the circulation. Appetite and sleep both profit by it, and it is a well-accredited means of furthring the system against malaria. It hastens the recovery of strength by convalescents, mitigates the infirmities of age, and helps the constitutionally feeble. Sharp Pangs Athwart the Forehead fice Finnl as to Tax Settlement. Justice Merrick, in the court in the general term, yesterday delivered an opinio of considerable importance to the property bolders and tax payers of this Diatrict, and which is likely to make errors committed at the assessor's and collector's offices less frequent as they will result expensively to the District. In the year 1881 Isaac A. Rosecrans entered into negotiations with Almyra J. Gilbert for the purchase of several lots of ground in square 308, at which time it was represented that all taxes and assessments of whatever act were paid to Jan. 1, 1881, and 'a corroboration of the representation there was exhibited an official certificate of the sollector of taxes showing that all the taxes were paid to 1889. Mr. Bosscrans bought lots from two to twenty in the square, believing them free from any eucumbrance. On Aug. 30, 1883, Mrs. Jennie E. Rosecrans, to whom the property had been subsequently transferred, received notice from the collector's office that there was lying against the property a bill for footway tax of 1870, amounting, with interest, to $2,047.99. This sum was carried on the tax books and advertised as a lieu upon the property, and the complainants sought relief in the equity court. They prayed that the District be directed to record the discharge of the property from all lien from the title. To this bill the District find a general demurrer, to the effect that the complaint stated did not make such a case as entitled the compainants to any relief.

Justice James austained the demurrer and the case went to the general term.

Justice Merrick, in delivering the opinion of the court, held that the Callector exonerated subsequent purchasers of the property, and that the District must of considerable importance to the property olders and tax payers of this District, an of the court, held that the certificate of the collector exonerated subsequent purchasers of the property, and that the District must stand to the statement furnished, and that the epectal tax of 1870 could not be taken as a lien against the property. The demurrer was overruled. This will be a precedent for several other cases in which certificates have come forth from the collector's office showing that all assessments and taxes upon certain property was paid in full, and after transfer had been made of that property along came the District with some overlooked bill for a back special tax and make it a lien against the property, thus throwing a cloud upon the title.

TROUBLES AT THE NAVY YARD. The Superintendent of the Ordnance Department Not to be Discharged.

Supt. James B. Davis, of the ordnance

Supt. James B. Davis, of the ordinance department, stated to a reporter for the REFURLICAN last night that there was no truth in the report that he was soon to be diamissed and that Mr. Lawrence Cosgrove, of Baltimore, was to get his place. A few days ago Commodore Queen went through the shops and discovered an employe neglecting his work by holding a conversation with a visitor. He issued an order forbidding workmen from talking with visitors. On Wednesday last Mr. Cosgrove, of Baltimore, visited the ordnance shop, and struck up a conversation with Oliver Beaumont, with whom he is very intimate. Beaumont called John W. Burton, a fellow workman, and the trio went over to the steam engineering department. The quarterman missed Beaumont and Burton, and on learning where they were and how long they had been away he reported them to Superintendent Davis, who in turn told Capt. McCormick, who is in charge of the yard. Yesterday Beaumont and Burton were suspended by Capt. McCormick for three days for disobeying the commodore's order. George Dykes, another workman, was punished in like manner for the same offense. Beaumont, it was learned, when discharged from the Mount Clare Works, Baltimore, some time ago, was gotten employment in the steam engineering department through Senator Gorman's efforts. When discharged from that department on account of lack of appropriation, Superintendent Davis gave him work in the ordnance department. Beaumont after getting in there beam to migheering department on account of lack of appropriation, Superintendent Davis gave him work in the ordnance department. Beaumont after getting in there beam to shout out his Democracy, and worse still began to work in the interest of Cosgrove, and to help the latter in ousting Mr. Davis. Beaumont got Burton into his citathes, and the understanding was that if Cosgrove get Davis's place Beaumont was to get a clerkship and Burton a quarterman's place. For the past three weeks articles have appeared in the New York World respecting Mr. Davis, which Mr REPUBLICAN last night that there was no

Funeral of the Late Thomas Simons Buried at Congressional Cometery. The funeral of Thomas Simons, who for many years was one of the assistant attorneys general, took place yeaterday afternoon at 4 o'clock from the First Baptlst Church, Rev. Dr. Cutibart, the pastor, officiating. The pallicarers were ex-Senstor McDonaid, ex-Sergeaut-at-Arms R. J. Bright, Chief Justice Richardson, of the court of claims; ex-Assistant Attorney General Phillips, J. L. Hodge, W. S. Thompson, and Alonzo Church. The interment was made at the Congressional Genetery.

Mr. Simons was born in Burmah 52 years ago, his father being a Baptist missionary in that country. He came to this country when 12 years of ago. He graduated from Brown University in 1855. He taught school in the south several years and coming porth located in Albany, N. Y., and attended the law school there, after which he ontered the law office of Samuel G. Courtney. He was a Bemocrat, but supported the Union cause during the war, and was appointed United States district attorney in New York city in 1863, which position he held for over ten years. He received the appointment of assistant United States attorney general in 1875, his duty being to defend the government against cases filed against it. In this capacity he showed the greatest ability, and proved, by his fidelity, worthy of the many years was one of the assistant attorment against cases filed against it. In this capacity he showed the greatest ability, and proved, by his fidelity, worthy of the great trust reposed in him. His resignation was given Attorney General Garland, and was accepted during the first days of the Democratic administration. He then entered into a law partnership with ex-Senator McDonald and ex-Sergeaut-at-Arma Bright, which continued to the day of his death.

A CASE FOR INVESTIGATION. An Old Soldier from Hampton in the Chain Gang. Mahomed Kahn, or John Donohue, now in the workhouse, has written a long letter to Hon. John J. O'Neill, dated the 13th instaut. He asks the attention of the House committee on labor to the forced work of men sent to the workhouse without the authorization by Congress, and only on the assumption of the workhouse authorities. He claims that innocent men are disgraced by being forced to work upon the streets in the chain gaug in the presence of their friends. He represents that he came here on the 1st instant, drew his pension on the 5th instant, and was arrested by an officer on the 6th, and in the police court the next day was committed to the workhouse forninety days. He had just arrived from Hampton, Va. He also claimed that he had $36 in his pockets when arrested, and has not seen the money since. The letter was referred to Senator Blair, who, in turn, has submitted it to the commissioners for investigation. to Hon. John J. O'Neill, dated the 18th

The Weather-Cold Tes With a Straw, Tra La!-Audran's Comic Opera of "The Crowing Hen"-Portable Stalls With Umbrellas for the Bootblacks-Association for Protection of Invent-

NEW YORK, June 18, 1888.—It is splendid to be in New York at present. The weather is delicious, with rain every few days, it is true, but nobody minds the rain these days of rapid transit and telephones. Dampness is delicious, with rain every few days, it is true, but nobody minds the rain these days of rapid transit and telephones. Dampness and slush never provent a woman from flirting or going shopping, or a man from flooling after his business duties, amoding, and sluping his cold tea—usually with a straw, tra la—or dancing attendance on his sweetheart. This morning was usbered in with a thunder storm, and the sites at this p, m. remain grey and dripping, and the face of the day is what Owen Merodith would describe as "white and wat." There is poetry in the ruin so long as the stamosphere remains cool and deprives the sun at this season of its usually too ardent kineses. Audran's comic opera of "The Crowing Hen," with the composer's original orchestration, is mighty provoking merriment with young and old New York, and the many strangers always here. It is running at Wallack's, and is given by the McCaull Opera Comlque Company. Why it should be expressed on the bill as opera comique I cannot understand, as it is rendered in English. Unless it is that McCaull on the straight who was a stranger will be taken for Anglo-maniacs if they adhere strictly to the vertucular. Madame Mathilde Cottrelly does La Marquise de la Haute Garenne very well, and Mr. De Wolf Hopper as Gawandin is simply killing, he is so funny. "It is the way the thing is done you know," as he says in one of his songs. The best voice in the troupe is that of Herndon Morsell, of, Washington, who represents Grevolin, the Innkeeper. The music of the opera is sparkling, and there is a freshness about I: that is most pleasing.

I notice that the bootblacks who were so fortunate as to obtain the bootblack blocks or portable stalls, if I can so describe them given to a number of those describe them given to a number of these described her is a fashing hustness, so comfortables and convenient is their construction for the use of customers. They are made of wood and peinted green, are about two feet and a half long, and probably two feet wide. There is a dais or p

Mr. Cranston, the popular proprietor of the New York Hotel here, and of Cranston's Hotel at West Point, is said to be negotiating for the Hygels Hotel at Old Point Comfort, with a view to becoming its manager. If he gets it and maintains the culsine for which the two hotels he runs now are famous, large as the Hygels is already, he will have to add to its size to keep pace with its popularity. Speaking of Mr. Cranston, his head waiter at the New York Hotel bears so striking a resemblance to the United States solicitor general that one of the guests, just arrived from Washington, was about to shake hands with him for Mr. Goode as he entered the dining room, but saw his mistake in time to recover himself. Patrick, for he is from Ireland, is a size smaller than the distinguished functionary whose double he appears to be at the first giance.

THE MARKETS.

Dealings in Stocks Characterized by Considerable Feverishness.

NEW YORK, June 21.—Commission holately have been advising purchases only upon "soft spots," the evident distrust of the situation leading them to advise great caution. The market to-day brought the first decided reaction for some time, stocks being weak almost from the opening. The only notable exception was Western Union, in which there was a small squeeze in the first hour, but stop orders for the short account soon checked the rise, and later solling by insiders brought the price back to opening figures. There were nore bear rumors on the street to-day than for a long time past, and the passenger rate war in the northwest looms up into large proportions, and from all accounts is extending to freight rates, with little or no prospect of settlement.

Considerable feverishess characterized the dealings and their were frequent small railies, which were almost invariably followed by large declines, and the lowest prices of the day were generally reached in the last hour, final prices being at or near the lowest of the day, the market closing steady.
